

Top 3 Reasons to Join a Real Estate Investment Association (REIA)

NETWORKING

REIAs are a great place to meet other real estate investors, real estate agents, contractors, and other industry leaders who can help you succeed in the business. You can also ask other investors for referrals and honest reviews for lenders, brokers, and the like. If you're really good at networking within your REIA, you can find some great deals.

MENTORING

Many members of REIAs have decades of experience to share. If you are new to real estate investing, finding mentors can provide personal value and insights that you might not get elsewhere.

EDUCATION

REIAs often have fantastic educational programs and speakers. Some of the helpful topics we've seen include, how to identify properties with high appreciation, how to grow your rental portfolio, tax strategy options, and landlording mistakes to avoid.
